Victoria in the Highlands of Scotland. He has been inquiring for a purchasable sporting estate in Scotland, providing salmon fishing and grouse and deer shooting. The agent of Baron von Buelo, the German minister at the Vatican, is still greatly exaggerating the German press. The inadequate meat supply of Germany, owing to the barriers erected against foreign cattle, hogs and meats, continues. From Austria solely 3,000 head of cattle have been admitted and the supply of hogs is very limited. These imports are quite insufficient to cope with the requirements which the home supply fails to meet. Prices have risen steadily for months past and they are 20 per cent. above those of 1897. The slaughter of hogs for food has greatly increased, especially in the large cities, and dog's flesh is openly advertised.

A brewing company of Eisenach has decided to buy the famous Luther house there and convert it into a restaurant. The government of Saxony has decided to appoint permanently a naval attaché at Washington. The appointment will be made next month and the new German attaché will reach his post during the month of January.

Hurder Over a Game of Cards. Major G. G. O'Connell, a special to the Telegraph from Athens, Ga., says: This afternoon W. K. Smith, of Bogart, Ga., shot and instantly killed Pat Wood. At 4 o'clock the parties above mentioned and J. S. Jenkins and J. B. Harris were engaged in a game of cards at a point near the cemetery, when Smith grew angry with Wood and drew his revolver, firing through the head, producing instant death. All of the parties are members of the Sons of the Confederate States and the shooting occurred and every effort for his recovery is being made. Feeling against him among the soldiers is very strong.
