Great professor! He's super caring, helpful and wants you to do well in his class. He does want you to read the textbook but you don't need it. SPSS is a little difficult to access and navigate at first, but make sure you know how to use it early on because you use it a lot in the semester.

Prof. Wuensch clearly knows his stuff. He is very responsive to e-mails. He shoots for a response within 24 hours but I usually heard back much sooner. The material is challenging but it is not so difficult to do well with a reasonable effort. Quizzes and the final allow 2 attempts. SPSS assignments, save the last, give step-by-step instructions.

Dr. Wuensch may have been an excellent professor in the past, but it's time to put him out to pasture. He has no patience for student struggles, instead preferring to mock them on his facebook page. The only students who have a good experience with this prof are his chosen few favorites.

Dr. Wuensch is a very hard professor to have as an undergrad student, but he provides plenty of support and course mater make the effort. Most students who complain aren't really m effort to do well. Dr. Wuensch belongs at a better university, the students here just aren't cut out for someone who expects you to try hard

BEWARE OF SPSS! Does not explain how to use the program SPSS at all, very unclear! The quizzes aren't difficult but the SPSS assignments will sink your grade. Does things in a very confusing way. Avoid him if you can!

I took this class on a 5-week summer session. Easy class to pass. Your grade is based on the weekly tests he gives you. His tests are not hard and which come straight out of the textbook and his lecture documents so you actually have to read them. Definitely, I recommend taking Dr. Wuensch's section for Psychology 1000 and other psychology classes.

Professor Wuensch is definitely interesting to say the least. His classes are boring at first but every now and then he will surprise you. Attendance isn't mandatory but he does give extra credit points every now and then. Do your SONA systems early and go to him for help if needed. DEFINITELY read his lecture notes for the test.

Dr. Wuesnch is a brilliant professor, and is very funny at times. He often has a difficult time putting undergrad statistics at a level you could understand. The class was difficult, but he does allow "sheet" on exams and will help you if you show you care.

Intense. Gets off onto all sorts of strange (but interesting) tangents. Uses SAS, so I hope you enjoy writing syntax -- it is kind of like learning a foreign lesson. Lots of homework. He means it when he says you need to spend 15 hours a week on this class.

Gotta love Professor Karl. Attendance not mandatory (but multiple extra credit quizzes so go to class always), easy online quizzes, allows a note sheet for exams. You'll find his lectures dry at first, but you'll appreciate them more as semester goes on. He laughs at himself and sex is his favorite topic, so you won't stay bored.

Great professor, and really knows what he's talking about. Do not take this class if you don't want to learn and work. If you come to class and actually pay attention, you can't help but pass. As with any class, it helps to like what your learning.

I took this class over the summer online and I wouldn't advise anyone to do that. Class would probably be much easier in a classroom. Exams are straight from the notes so take good notes!!! (pay attention to the little things)

STAY AWAY!! Doesn't reach out if you're struggling. Failed me regardless of my showing up to class all the time and did all of the work. Can't stand listening to him talk. Laughs at himself, and he's not funny. Does not explain concepts well at all. Just take this headache of a class with someone who will make it somewhat bearable.

Dr. Wuensch gives extra credit, study guides, and the notes that he goes over in class! Even though class is not mandatory, it's better to go because he gives many easy attempts for extra credit!!!! recommend him =)

Taught at a higher level than most introductory courses. I bombed the first exam, did not expect to need to really understand the material. With hard work and good class attendance after that I pulled my grade up to an A. Not for the slacker, but great for the student willing to put in the effort.

He is such a great professor! He makes it interesting by putting in life stories and he laughs at himself, which makes me laugh. He reminds me of a real-life Santa because he's always smiling and laughing and joking around with us. TAKE HIM any way possible!

Don't let others scare you away from this class/prof. The material is difficult, and there is LOTS of homework, but if you work at it you will do well. I did not really appreciate this class until I took experimental psychology, where only I and one other of Wuensch's students already understood the statistics expected in there.

Difficult material well presented by a professor who demands as much from his students as he does from himself. Plan on spending every waking moment doing homeworks and studying if you want to do well in this class. Highly recommended for the student who wants to go on for doctoral study, but a bit much for somebody who just wants his masters.
